

ISPC 2026

Participant feedback and appreciation

Messages from our authors, presenters, moderators, and partners describe constructive reviews, valuable scientific exchange, and encouragement to continue their research. We thank everyone who contributed to this experience at the 6th International Scientific-Practical Conference.

This collection brings together positive feedback received before and after the conference, with particular attention to Create Better Researchers. It is a collection of personal perspectives, not a representative participant survey. First compiled on September 16, 2026. Updated on September 30, 2026.

Create Better Researchers

Authors explicitly welcomed the principle of Create Better Researchers. Their messages describe encouragement and constructive review as valuable parts of their ISPC experience.
